Your Doctor & Your Prescription

In 2004, a Federal Law called the "Fairness To Contact Lens Consumers" Act went into effect. This law mandates that patients be given their prescription as soon as they've been fitted. The law requires sellers to verify prescriptions and gives prescribers a reasonable amount of time, eight business hours, to respond. It also established that a contact lens prescription will expire within one year or at the time set by State law, whichever is greater.

Frequently Asked Questions

What information do I need to order contact lenses?

A contact lens prescription is made up of certain specifications including the power of the lens, the size of the lens and the lens brand name. All of this information may be found on your contact lens packaging or on the written prescription. Federal law requires that your eye care professional provide you with a prescription when the examination is completed. When you receive your contact lens prescription, be sure it contains all the necessary information, including expiration date and the eye care professional's signature.

Can Contact Fill call my eye care professional to get my prescription?

Yes, a Contact Fill representative will gladly contact your eye care professional's office to verify your prescription. Just provide Contact Fill with the name of your eye care professional and the date of your last contact lens fitting exam.

How can I speed up the order process?

You can reduce the order process time by sending Contact Fill a copy of the current prescription. It may be faxed to 1-866-589-6969 or scanned and emailed as an attachment to cservices@contactfill.com.

What is the cost to ship my order?

The standard cost for shipping your contact lenses from Contact Fill is $5.95 per order. However, first-time buyers will receive free standard shipping on orders placed by June 30, 2010. Use the promotion code SHIP10 to receive this special offer.

Does Contact Fill accept insurance?

Contact Fill accepts National Vision Administrators, L.L.C. (NVA) vision benefit plans for payment or member reimbursement. For all other insurance purposes, an invoice is provided with every order. If you require a specialized invoice to submit to your insurance carrier, please ask a Contact Fill Representative for assistance.

When I order my contact lenses from Contact Fill, will I still be able to obtain manufacturers' rebate coupons?

Contact Fill offers rebate information that may be applicable to the brand of contact lenses ordered. Contact lens' prices advertised by Contact Fill reflect the cost before any rebates are applied. You can read more about rebate offers by visiting www.contactfill.com and clicking on the rebate offer link.

My lens type is not on the list of available lenses; can I still purchase them from Contact Fill?

Your lens might be a special order product available through Contact Fill. Just call or email with your lens prescription information and questions. A Customer Service Representative will gladly guide you through the process.

Do I still need a prescription if I just want contact lenses to change my eye color?

Yes, you still need to be fitted for the lenses even if you do not need vision correction. Contact lenses are medical devices and wearing them can affect the health of your eyes.
