Justification Statement

Variance Request to Reduce the Number of Parking Spaces for Golf Course Use

The owner of Cascade Properties LLC respectfully requests a variance from the Washington County Zoning Ordinance related to the number of parking spaces required for a golf course that is proposed to be located on the lands of the former Fort Ritchie military installation. We are basing this request upon the claim of undue hardship due to limiting factors on the property that have existed for decades.

History

Fort Ritchie is a former military base that started as a Nation Guard facility in 1926. Over the last 100 years the Fort has gone through significant changes to be the site that exists today. The property was used as a military base through 1998 when it was closed as part of the Federal Base Relocation and Closure Act. The property was purchased in 2021 by Cascade Properties, LLC and has had great success in revitalization and redevelopment efforts.

While the military base was in operation, there was a 9-hole golf course located on the site. It was spread across a much larger portion of the installation and featured Par 3, 4 and 5 holes. Three of the nine holes were located upon the parade grounds.

Existing Conditions

The existing conditions and development patterns of the Fort are the primary reason that redevelopment is challenging. The topography of the property ranges from flat areas in the parade grounds to mountainous steep slopes. Most of the property that has been developed is mildly sloping but also heavily graded by the military over time. And at the time some of the areas were graded, best management practices in place at the time were less stringent than they are today.

The property was developed as a military base with one primary function. It was developed as its own self-sufficient 'town' that would provide housing, employment, shopping and recreation for its soldiers and residents. Sometimes, the base would be open to the public to also enjoy the amenities the Fort had to offer, however, it was not intended or promoted to be a destination like it is today.

Being that much of the development occurred prior to the adoption of Zoning regulations in the County, and because the Federal government had some autonomy from local regulations after they were adopted, the property developed to meet the specific needs of the military and not necessarily as a traditional mixed-use development like we see today.

Proposed Variance and Justification

The request being made is to reduce the parking requirements for golf course use from 4 spaces per hole to 3 spaces per hole. We are proposing to develop a 9-hole, par 3, walking only golf course on the former parade grounds. This will include the improvement of Building 301 to include the Pro Shop in the lower half of the building (1650 sq. ft.) and potential retail in the top half (1,650 sq. ft.). This request is specific to the golf course use and does not include a request to reduce parking spaces for the retail portion of the building.

Building 301 was chosen to house the Pro Shop because of its proximity to the proposed course. As shown in Exhibit 2, the combination of all the uses requires a minimum of 113 spaces. However, there are only 99 spaces available (after excluding 10 spaces reserved for Buildings 201 & 202). Should the request be granted this would reduce the number of required spaces to 104. While the variance alone will not provide the full number of required spaces, a site plan is being submitted to the Department of Planning and Zoning for the golf course and Pro Shop proposing shared parking facilities within the parking lot adjacent to the Chapel. There are currently parking spaces that have the potential to qualify for shared parking under Section 22.12(b).2 that will provide the extra spaces needed to meet parking standards for the golf course assuming this variance is approved.

The size and intensity of this style of golf course is different than typical 9- or 18-hole golf courses. The varied size and intensity of different golf courses are not always proportional to the number of holes on a course. Rather variables such as tee times, group sizes and the length of the golf season have influence on the demand for parking.

This will be a destination course meaning that people will need to have a desire to travel to the site rather than rely on the convenience of municipal or other public courses. This will have an impact on the number of people who will visit the course and therefore effect the number of parking spaces that will be needed. Furthermore, weather conditions during the winter season will limit the season for usage from May to November.

The Pro Shop will have the convenience of being located within 350 ft or less to other commercial uses. They include Building 304 (Synergy Salon and Spa), Building 302 (Chapel) and Building 607 (Meritus Health). Each of these uses has their own assigned parking spaces along Castle Drive and in a small parking lot adjacent to the Chapel.

As noted previously, having commercial uses located in close proximity creates the opportunity for shared patrons that will park their car and walk between uses. Staggered operating hours also provide opportunities for shared parking throughout the week. The chart below shows the current operating hours for each use.

Use	Hours
	Mon	Tues	Wed	Thur	Fri	Sat	Sun
Chapel	Closed	Closed	7-9pm	Closed	Closed	Closed	9am - Noon
Meritus	7am-5pm	7am-5pm	7am-5pm	7am-5pm	7am-5pm	7am-5pm	7am-5pm
Salon/Spa	12-5pm	11am-6pm	10am-5pm	11am-6pm	11am-6pm	10am-2pm	Closed
Golf (Apr thru Nov)	Open at 8-9am; Close 5-7pm depending on DST; Closed December thru April
301 Retail	9am-6pm	9am-6pm	9am-6pm	9am-6pm	9am-6pm	9am-6pm	9am-6pm

Hardship Created

One of the most challenging parts of redevelopment efforts has been the quantity and location of parking facilities. These challenges have become particularly difficult in the historic core area¹. When this area had begun to develop, automobile transportation was not as prevalent as it is today. Therefore, parking facilities were not given a high priority.

In addition, many of the buildings and uses constructed within the historic core had a functional purpose to provide administrative and training operations for people who resided on the Fort. It was more efficient to construct buildings close to one another so that operations were consolidated and people could move quickly between the buildings.

Now being in private ownership, the property is not only subject to county parking standards for the first time, but it must adapt to standards that are set in an automobile centric society. When the base closed in 1998, the county created a new zoning district for the Fort property that allowed a multitude of residential, commercial and employment use. However, no thought was given to the design standards that would be unique to the property and its campus setting. Instead, they contemplate parking requirements based upon individual use types as if they stand alone from one another. While the new uses serve individual and unique purposes, the campus setting and proximity of structures still provide a similar function to when the military was operational in that patrons can visit multiple buildings/businesses while parked in one location.

Another limiting factor regarding parking facilities around the proposed golf course is the existence of a Maryland Historic Trust easement. The easement extends from the finger buildings on Barrick Avenue to Lake Royer. It is also bounded to the north by Lake Royer Drive and to the south by Lake Wastler Drive. The purpose of the easement is to maintain the historical context of the Fort in its early development. The proposed golf course was reviewed by the Maryland Historic Trust and approved because of the extremely limited amount of disturbance, the absence of additional impervious surface and limited change in topography.

These hardships are unique to this property when compared to the one other property located within the Special Economic Development zoning district. The other property does not contain the number of buildings, proximity of buildings or historic easements that limit development in the same manner as the subject property. As that property develops, there is ample opportunity to create new parking facilities to accommodate new development.

This property can no longer function like a military base and must now diversify and adapt to civilian development patterns. Adaptive reuse of existing buildings is crucial to the successful redevelopment of the Fort. The current parking regulations described in this statement have created undue hardships for the property owner that were not of his creation. The regulations are now limiting the use of the property as well as limiting the owner from securing a reasonable return. This variance is needed, reasonable and does not affect health or public safety. For the reasons stated, we respectfully ask that you approve this variance.
